Fiumicino's fourth runway will be a major infrastructure project that will bring thousands of jobs to Rome and the entire surrounding area, while respecting the environment and significantly reducing noise.

This major project can only be good for Rome, the province, and Italy as a whole! It is now essential that the zero-net-loss reserve reperimetry project approved by the Municipality of Fiumicino swiftly complete the institutional process under MASE's coordination, so that ENAC can then give final approval to the airport's development plan.
