

“

The high level of approval expressed by a representative sample of the city of Fiumicino regarding the structural and infrastructural upgrade of Leonardo da Vinci airport, as shown by an authoritative survey conducted in recent weeks, is certainly an opportunity to develop a new path of dialogue with all political, social and economic forces in the area. For years our airport has been a source of pride for the country in terms of comfort, reliability and safety. A strategic hub that opens Fiumicino to the world and creates employment and economic conditions capable of driving the local economy forward. Fiumicino can become the hub of a nationally significant innovation and development process, through a path that will see us as protagonists and active participants in our own future. Why waste this opportunity?
