The old expansion project was self-referential because it addressed the needs of the airport alone, not considering the needs of the city. The new proposal, on the contrary, is part of a context of urban growth financed by development itself. A development and investment plan for the region and for the citizens of Fiumicino. We don't want to suffer the infrastructure development, but rather govern it. We requested and obtained the €300 million in compensatory work for improvements to roads and public transport.
